Q. DAVID BOWERS

JAMES F. RUDDY

Welcome to issue #10 of Empire Topics. This issue exceeds all previous ones in the variety and selection of the coins offered. As a result of extensive buying during the past month or so our stock of coins is at an all time high . . . with triplicate and quadruplicate specimens of most of the rare items listed — Uncirculated and Proof 1877 Indian cents, for example.

This issue of Empire Topics, unlike its predecessors, was printed by a special photo-offset process. The illustrations are made directly from the original photographic prints, resulting in clearer and more sharply defined pictures.

We have been busier than ever at the office during the past several weeks. To keep up with our increasing business we doubled our office space and added three more secretaries to our office staff, bringing the number of our employees to seven. We hope that this will result in faster handling of orders and correspondence.

Demand was strong for all series of coins listed in our last issue. We particularly notice an increased interest in silver coins from 1916 to about 1930. After a sharp price increase in the early 1950's the dimes, quarters and half dollars of this period, particularly the half dollars, have remained fairly stable in price. They seem now to be on the threshold of new advances. With the great increase in modern roll and proof set prices practically anything before 1930 is bargain priced in comparison. For some time now we have been advocating a return to the "traditional" American numismatic items. Many Liberty seated and Barber coins, for instance, are obtainable today at reasonable prices — prices no higher or only slightly higher than they were in 1957 and 1958. These coins exist only in limited quantities, not by the dozens of mint sacks, and furnish their owner with a true pride of possession. These remarks apply to all of the early series. Which is the more interesting to study, read about and look at — an album of large cent varieties or a cigar box full of rolls?

One of the rarest of all Indian cent varieties is the 1873 with the letters of LIBERTY in the headband double cut. This variety was first published in October, 1958, in an Empire Topics article by Walter Breen entitled "Blundered Dies of U. S. and Colonial Coins." At that time there was but a single specimen known. Since that time we have seen two others. The detail from one of these, the specimen owned by David S. Brassington of State College, Pa., is illustrated above. To our knowledge this is the first time an illustration of this variety has been published.

We once read that for every ten dollars a collector spends for rare coins he should spend a dollar for numismatic literature. We believe this to be good advice, particularly for the first several hundred dollars spent in collecting. Two booklets published in the past few months, each worth its cost of one dollar, are Hawaiian Coins, Tokens and Paper Money, by Maurice M. Gould and Kenneth L. Brissett and Patriotic Civil War Tokens, by George and Melvin Fuld. The first book represents the first serious effort at classifying and pricing Hawaiian numismatic items. In addition to the Hawaiian metal of 1817 and the silver coins of 1883 many lesser-known items are listed. The authors discuss in detail transportation tokens, store cards, medals, scrip and paper money.

"Patriotic Civil War Tokens" lists over fifteen hundred varieties of tokens bearing political designs, most of which are dated 1863. This booklet is only the beginning of a proposed series of references listing, in addition to the patriotic issues, an estimated seven thousand issues of an advertising nature. The first part of this reference not only gives the history and background of the various issues and descriptions of the metals in which they were struck but gives the history of collecting Civil War tokens (the first listing was in the Journal of the American Philosophical Society in 1863 and listed 303 different varieties).

Due to your enthusiastic response to the first limited library edition of Empire, Topics containing issues #1 to #6 we are now planning to issue library editions on a continuous basis. The next edition will be ready as soon as issue #12 is published and will contain issues #7 through #12. If you have not yet obtained a copy of our first library edition we still have a number of copies on hand for sale at the original issue price of $2.75. We will personally inscribe and sign each copy. The first edition contains each two part article, Rebel and Dies of U.S. and Colonial Coins and The Transitional Coins of America, each of which contains extensive information not found in any other numismatic publication. In addition there are many items with prices realized, and the groups and coins used in the Transactions, Coin Reports, Coin Questions and Coin Comment. Order your copy of our first library edition now before our small supply is depleted.

This issue features an unusually fine selection of choice United States coins for sale. Many fine and unusual items are offered, particularly in the listings of one-cent piece and silver coins. If it is possible, please indicate second and third choices when ordering, particularly so if you desire a coin for a type collection and the date is not of major importance. This will result in fewer unfilled orders and returned checks. We will be fair in all respects and will not use alternate choices unless the first items requested have been sold. Look over this issue carefully. We are sure you will find many items to be of interest to you.

QUESTIONS FROM READERS

What are the circumstances concerning the restriking of the 1861 Confederate half dollar in 1879?

In January, 1879, E. Mason, Jr., a Philadelphia numismatist, was contacted by Dr. B. F. Taylor, the former chief coiner for the Confederate States of America at the New Orleans mint. In his communication Taylor said that he owned a half dollar struck by the Confederacy together with the two dies used to produce it.

Shortly thereafter the U. S. government confiscated the 1861 Liberty seated obverse die. The reverse die and the solitary half dollar were purchased by Mason and sold together in May, 1879, to J. W. Scott of New York City for $310. Scott then advertised in the Coin Collectors Journal that he would manufacture free for sale, restrike and sell them on a subscription basis for 100 dollars each. Scott next obtained 150,000 dated 1861 O half dollars by offering a premium for people who would date them. The 1861 O half dollar was produced in the reverse and then were restrike on the Confederate reverse side. The premium restrike coins in the 150,000 were made to illustrate the restrike and to be sold.

Due to this confusion and the subsequent break with restrike the subsequent publication Scott learned that restrike coins made by Scott were not wanted and he would then be left with the 150,000 restrike event that the silver pieces could not be supplied. These tokens bore on one side an impression from the Confederate half dollar die and on the other the following inscription: 4 ORIGINALS STRUCK BY ORDER OF C.S.A. IN NEW ORLEANS, 1861 **** REVERSE SAME AS U.S. FROM ORIGINAL DIE, SCOTT).

The silver pieces were restruck as planned, so the white metal tokens were then offered for fifty cents apiece to anyone who subscribed to the regular restrike for two dollars. The circular describing the half dollars sent out by Scott also offered the cancelled reverse die for fifty dollars and described it as a "valuable and interesting relic." It consequently developed that the issue of restrikes was oversubscribed by sixty-seven pieces. An indication of the popularity of the restrikes is given by Scott's advertised offer shortly thereafter to repurchase for $2.50 any coins sent to him.

The original 1861 C.S.A. half dollar changed hands several times in the years 1879 to 1910. In the latter year it sold for $3750 at auction. It presently is in the collection of the American Numismatic Society.

The whereabouts of the cancelled reverse die is unknown to us. It has been reported that a uniface impression in brass from the cancelled die exists.

What does the term "first strike" mean? Were Proof coins ever struck at branch mints?

The term "first strike" is usually used to indicate an Uncirculated coin having a Proof or mirrorlike finish in some parts of the field. The Guidebook, on page 187, refers to these as "new-die-proofs", a description we have never seen elsewhere.

Prooflike coins, not actually intended as Proofs, seem to have been made under a variety of circumstances. Some of them are as follows:

1. A newly manufactured die often has a Prooflike surface which it retains for the first several thousand strikings. This surface may extend over the entire field of the coin or it may be only in certain areas. The Prooflike surface is usually less than perfect and shows traces of mint lustre or graininess, especially when viewed under an incandescent lamp. The production of highly polished Prooflike dies to be used for regular coinage seems to have been mainly confined to the years from about 1875 to the early 1900's. Prooflike mintmarked specimens of nearly every date of Liberty seated and Barber half dollar and Morgan type silver dollar during this period are known.

2. Sometimes dies are injured by coming together without an intervening planchet. This results in light incuse impressions of the obverse die on the reverse die and vice versa. Often these traces of damage are removed by polishing the die. We have seen 1806 and 1807 half dollars with nearly perfect Proof surfaces due to this cause.

3. It may have been that certain early half cents and large cents were struck from regular dies using polished planchets. We have seen in print more than once that Prooflike or "presentation" pieces were struck using specially prepared pre-polished planchets.

4. Worn dies are sometimes polished to increase their useful life. Many bust type silver coins of the 1820's and 1830's have prooflike fields, yet show extreme lack of detail (due to wear?) on the parts in relief. This may explain the origin of many such "Proof" coins.

The Standard Catalogue lists on page 168 ten different coins it calls intentional branch mint Proofs. Some of these (1855-S quarter, 1855-S half dollar, 1838-O half dollar, 1921-S dollar, 1883-O dollar, 1879-O dollar and 1854-S $20) are Proof strikings verified by mint records.

With the exception of those coins verified by mint records indicating an intentional Proof coinage we would hesitate to call a branch mint coin, however prooflike the surface may be, a Proof. Such a coin would be best described, in our opinion, as being "Uncirculated, with prooflike surface" or some similar description.

Are there any 1873-S without arrows half dollar known?

According to mint reports there were 5000 1873-S without arrows half dollars coined, but like its companion the 1873-S silver dollar no specimens are known today. M. L. Beistle in his reference "A Register of Half Dollar Die Varieties and Sub Varieties" published in 1929, describes an 1873-S half dollar without arrows and gives it the designation "1 A" the coin is noted as "Rare." This would indicate, or at least imply, that Beistle had seen a specimen. We are skeptical of this Beistle's entire description is as follows:

"1873-S 1 A No arrow heads are on either side of the date. Rev. A Perfect. Rare."

If Beistle had actually examined a specimen he would have, following his procedure in the rest of the book, described the obverse and the reverse in detail. Instead his description is but a vague generality. It contrasts sharply with his listing of the 1878-S half dollar, another rarity:

"1878-S 1 A Drapery at elbow and the foot is supported; Rev. A Very small mint mark S set high. The tip of the feather is split and extends across the top of S, and is two hundredths of an inch above. Very lightly impressed reverse. Exceedingly rare."

As every San Francisco mint half dollar from 1855 to 1878, except the 1873-S without arrows, is described in minute detail we conclude that Beistle never had an 1873-S for examination.

The 5000 pieces coined may be forever lost to numismatists due to melting or other destruction. Perhaps the entire mintage exists intact as a hoard, or perhaps they were exported to China, as were so many other San Francisco silver coins of that period. Until more information is known the 1873-S half dollars will continue to be a mystery.

LARGE CENTS

The following offering of Large Cents is remarkable for its quality. Particularly outstanding are the 1794 Starred Reverse and the 1799 S. Add to this a nice selection of both late and early dates in the choice conditions and you have the finest selection of Large Cents we have been privileged to offer in Empire Topics.

1794 Fan or Aht. Good $5.00, Good $10.00 Very Fine $42.50, VF EF 60.00

1794 S 42 rare VF, but unfortunately impaired severely by cuts and dents. Worth 10.00

1794 Starred Reverse

1794 S-4S the famous Starred Reverse. An attractive Very Fine example. This newly discovered coin was not known to Dr. Sheldon so is not mentioned in Penny Whimsy (published in 1958). This specimen is virtually equal in condition to the Sheldon plate coin. If this coin is not the finest specimen known it is equal to it. In offering a VG Fine specimen in Empire Topics #9 we had the following to say:

"The Starred Reverse has long been considered as the most famous 1794 cent and indeed, it deserves this reputation for it is one of the most misused items ever produced at the U. S. Mint. A circle of very small five pointed stars, one between each denticle point, is on the reverse. Dr. Sheldon, writing of the fame of this particular variety, states that 'Collectors mention it with religious awe.'"

In checking through the past Empire auctions and price lists of large cent coins we find the S-4S (R) coin rarely offered and then usually in poor condition. One coin has been offered would be an attraction in the finest collection of large cents. Book value conservatively estimated at 25x10.00x2 or $500.00. Our price is $475.00. This coin is illustrated above.

1795 plain edge Fan $3.00, Very Fine well worth $27.50, S-27 Rare variety (R-1) A choice EF coin, therefore a condition census piece. Book value about $150.00. A good buy for 85.00

LINCOLN CENTS

1909 V.D.B. Brilliant Uncirculated. A popular coin for type sets, and inexpensive for $ 1.40

1909 V.D.B. Choice Matte Proof. Mint reports indicate a coinage of a scant 420 pieces; however, judging from the number we have handled, we would be surprised if 50% of these coins have survived to this day. We know one auction record of $125.00 and have heard of higher sales. This choice example 115.00

1909-S V.D.B. VG, but initials V.D.B. are extremely weak. A good space filler for $29.00; EF $65.00; AU $73.50; Brown Unc. $80.00; Brilliant Uncirculated 94.50

1909 plan. Brilliant Uncirculated, scarce. Most of the 1909's saved were with VDB . . . this later issue was neglected 3.50

Special 1909 cent offer: Set of three Philadelphia mint 1909 cents — 1909 Indian, 1909 V.D.B. and 1909 plan Lincoln — all Brilliant Unc. If purchased separately our price would be $10.40. As a group, special for 8.95

1955 DOUBLE DIE CENT

Yes, we have available a small group of the most popular coin of the year, the 1955 double-die Lincoln cent.

During recent months the 1955 double-die cent has caused more collector and investor interest than any other United States coin. This is rightly so. The 1955 double-die cent has three outstanding features:

First—It is the most spectacular die error of modern times. The other twentieth-century die errors (1918 7-D nickel, 1942 1 dime, 1918 7-S quarter, etc.) have only the date in error. On the 1955 double-die cent the entire obverse is strikingly double cut . . . there are two sharply cut impressions of each letter and two distinct dates, one above the other.

Second—The mintage of the 1955 double-die cent has been estimated at about 20,000 pieces in all . . . thus making it the rarest Lincoln cent by far — 24 times rarer than the 1909 S VDB (and over 50 times rarer) than the 1914 D. The 1955 double-die cent was not discovered by numismatists until the coins were put into circulation. The number of 1955 double-die cents in collectors' hands is probably not over 2,000 to 3,000 pieces. Even this may be a liberal estimate.

Third—Lincoln cents are the most popular series in United States coin collecting. The 1955 double-die is the rarest coin in the Lincoln cent set. Therefore the 1955 double-die cent has the unique distinction of being the rarest coin in the most popular U. S. series. The investment possibilities are obvious. The popularity of the 1955 double-die cent has been enhanced further by its listing and illustration in the Coinbook. We notice, also, that space for this coin is being included in many albums, including the attractive new Library of Coins album. With such a fantastic demand for the small number of 1955 double-die cents available, this coin has a very bright future.

We have been fortunate in purchasing a limited number of these coins. All are choice specimens which have never been cleaned. We recommend the 1955 double-die cent as an exceptional investment item and also as a centerpiece for your Lincoln cent collection.
